

Introduction

Our Mission and Vision

We aim to create the lost circles in the chain of learning to code by guiding the players towards the most optimal route by providing roadmaps, solving exciting real-world projects and challenges, gaining experience firsthand by working in a challenging environment, personalized coaching and engaging in community activities like events, talks, hackathons, and cooperating with other players in team projects.

We want players to feel comfortable and confident in their skills and competence with every project they complete and reward them for their achievements with badges, certificates, and even cash money in hackathons!

We'll keep adding more awesome features to this project to reach more aspiring players to help in their journey, and we'll be adding more content, roadmaps, and projects for diversity in choice.
